

Key Developments on the Responsibility to Protect at the UN since the 2005 World Summit

The International Coalition for the Responsibility to Protect Since the World Summit in 2005, there have been several steps forward and also several steps back for the Responsibility to Protect and the United Nations. While progress has been made at the UN Secretariat level, there has nevertheless been increasing resistance from member states to apply R2P to specific country situations.

Read full document.